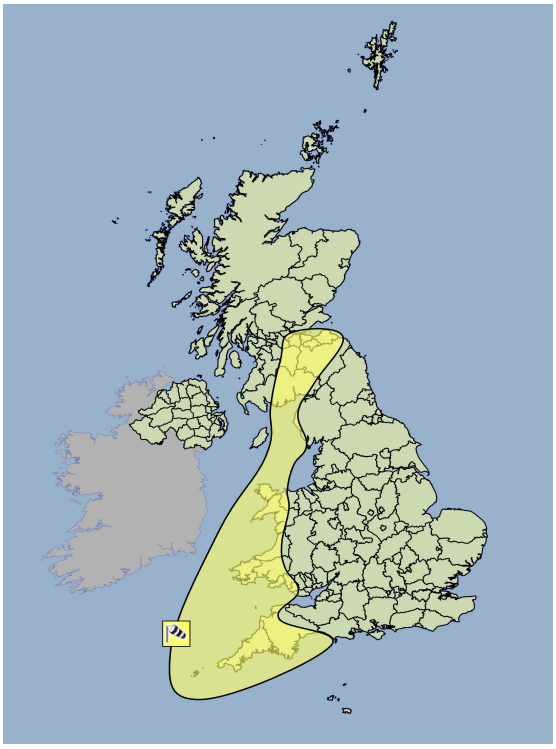
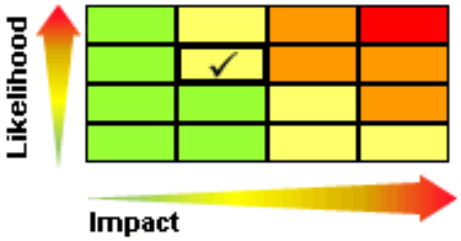
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
As a deep area of low pressure passes close to the northwest of the UK, wind speeds across exposed parts of Wales, northwest and southwest England and southern Scotland are expected to increase. Gusts of 50-60 mph are likely, with some exposed areas seeing gusts approaching 70 mph.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Wind

Valid from 19:00 on Tue, 29th Dec 2015 until 11:00 on Wed, 30th Dec 2015

A deep area of low pressure is expected to track close to the northwest of Ireland, then Scotland late Tuesday and through Wednesday. Gales and locally severe gales are expected to develop during Tuesday evening/night and at first on Wednesday through the Irish Sea and around western and southern coasts of England and Wales along with southern Scotland, easing from the west during Wednesday morning.

Some disruption to transport is possible.

The warning has been updated to bring forward the start and end times, whilst also extending it into more of Scotland.
